MR. WERNICKE.

This educational establishment well known among natives and foreign residents of Buenos Ayres and the Provinces, was opened in the year 1858, and in all ways able through the incessant care and attention of the Director and his well known professors, to give the considerable education to the pupils confided to their management.

The branches most carefully taught are French, English, German, and Arithmetic, and a particular care is given to a good hand writing and geography.

The pupils find everything for their comfort—in the playground are every kind of gymnastic apparatus.

MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY, A THE DAY.

To Shepherd mers and the Public in general.

F. C. Calvert's Phenyline & Carbolic Sheep Dip.

The great reputation these specifics have enjoyed in England on account of their extraordinary success in all cases where they have been applied, has induced the proprietor to introduce them in this market on account of the immense steep farming interest of this country. To enable shepherders to obviate in future the enormous losses they sustain yearly, not only in the destruction of sheep, but also, as frequently happens, the loss of the animal itself. It is a powerful antiseptic, and he only asks a fair trial, feeling confident of the result. The following is a list of some of the cases to which these antiseptics may be applied:—

In Sheep—Tar cure unegoir scab, scab, lice, tick.

In Horses—Canker in the foot, grease, quitter, all cangrenous wounds or ulcers, cracked heels, mange, &c.

Cows; discharges, or fall diseases of the hoofs.

For wounds or bruises resulting in an accident and for all general Veterinary purposes these remedies are sure. Sheep dip is found to be remarkably successful in Horses, Cattle, in England for curing Cancer. Terebene is also used for preserving hides, skins and bones from all vermin and insects, for parcels already cured with it in this city and Australia have received the approval of purchasers in England who expect them to be perfectly sound and sweet. The leather made from hides so cured is declared to be superior in every respect

Colonization, or Immigration?

There are few sober-headed men in Buenos Ayres, whether political economists or pledging traders, but admit the capital defect of the country to be its scanty population, and therefore regard foreign immigration as the sovereign blessing, which must remove antiquated evils, and impart new life, energy, and spirit. In view of the gigantic development of the U. States, this truth may be admitted as an axiom, and it is difficult at first sight to perceive how to simple a thesis, as the introduction of foreigners, could give rise to a polemic.

Two very distinct methods, however, present themselves, each claiming absolute merit, and originating a strange rivalry. Colonisation by means of Government enterprise has many advocates, on the plea that industrious Europeans should be invited to these distant parts by the offer of free passage, land grants &c, and the certainty of living together in the enjoyment of their own customs, language and religion. Spontaneous Immigration, on the other hand, advances superior claims, pointing to the example of the U. States, rejecting state control in human importation, and preferring to remove rather than foster those inter national barriers, which would tend to make this republic a multiplicity of dissimilar communities, instead of moulding the various elements into a great compact, nation.

M. Feyret of the Colonia San José has treated the subject in a masterly manner, throwing into the boldest relief the respective merits of these opposite modes. He pronounces decidedly for both, admitting the preferable theory of immigration, while he shews that Government must first introduce Colonies, before Europeans can have sufficient knowledge of, or confidence in, these countries to come spontaneously hither in large numbers, as our necessities demand. He places Swiss, or German, peasants and artisans in the foremost rank of utility, and asserts that the high rates of ocean passage prevent the acquisition of such valuable settlers. He quotes the San José colony as a successful experiment, the province of Entre Rios having gained 2,000 civilizing, and laborious, inhabitants at a trifling cost of $15,000 or £15 per head.

He proposes that the National Government should invest one million silver dollars in similar enterprises which would give the republic 20,000 new citizens, from whom a small annual sum might be exacted, in contribution of the scheme, till voluntary immigration should take animus, and call to our shores. He states that La Plata is yet unknown in most parts of Europe, among the very classes most respectable, and does not dissimulate that the unpeopled parts of the Pampas can only be settled by colonies, as voluntary immigrants will always crowd together in towns or on the sea-shore.

The Argentine Republic, in its opinion, is circumstanced much like the Australian colonies, and should imitate those provincial legislatures which, finding their primary necessities in population, spend any influx to attract Europeans to their shores. Not content with providing free passage from England, and giving forty acres of land to each adult settler, in perpetuity, they despatched emissaries to every part of the United Kingdom to paint the glowing picture of the unrivalled advantages of Melbourne, New Zealand, Queensland, &c, and thus served in great measure to stem the tide of emigration from the familiar British Atlantic route, to the distant and unknown settlements of Britain in the South Pacific.

Our boasted immigration of 10,000 souls per annum scarce reaches the figure of Irish arrivals at New York in one week. Mr Feyret plainly observes that European peasants can only be attracted by the accounts of some countrymen who have preceded them. And in fact all our immigrants, of each nation, belong to one small district: the Italians to Genoa, the French to Bordeaux, Irish to Wexford, and so of the rest. If Buenos Ayres were as well known throughout Italy, France, and Ireland as in the above counties, we should count a million more inhabitants. If we had half a dozen colleagues sending, like the Standard, 4,000 copies twice a month to Europe, it would greatly further this grand object. If each of our Consuls abroad corrected himself into a public lecturer, and our Provincial governments would be insufficient to carry the passengers offering.

The French say "when we have not what we desire, we must be content with what we have," and Government has abundant means of encouraging immigration, without employing lecturers or appointing passage grants. Every excessive taxation only produce sufficient rents to support the employees, and sucreddite burdensome provincial Governments, leaving no capital for M. Feyret's excellent idea, therefore ought to be at least a small fund reserved for immigration, which would annually amount to only half the sum of mileage money of every adult bringing a recommendation from his parish-priest or justice of the Peace. An immigrant family, on such principles, should be provided, and public lands, seeds, and farming implements, offered to any number of foreigners willing to try such venture.

We are but too anxious to give wide spread publicity to the good intentions of the present Government; and as our authority has some weight among our countrymen beyond the seas, we would gladly use the same for the double purpose of relieving the poor from their misery and degradation, and endowing our adopted home with large numbers of useful settlers, who have already proved themselves to be among the most valuable of all European immigrants.

The attitude of Brazil.

We have heard so much, of the sympathies of Rui Barbosa, the Brazilian Borro's Government, and the officacious aid lent by Baron Mauá to the Oriental exchequer, that it is with much difficulty we can bring ourself to believe the flagrant connivance of the Brazilian frontier authorities in the filibuster crusade.

It is notorious, says the "Demócrata" that Flores keeps his magazine and cavalry winter-quarters within the Imperial territory under the protection of Daniel Canavarro, who is thin the Imperial territory under the Chief Agent in disposing of the booty and plunder. In the fron- tier villages of Brazil the filibusters go about openly, wearing long red feathers in their hats, as the distinguishing mark of being servants of the Government. Several refugees of the Government forces, escaping after the defeat of Vera, were rearrested, disarmed, and locked up on the plea of Brazilian neutrality!

In the town of Santana do Libramento (Brazil) another refugee was arrested and beheaded by a body of rebels stationed there under Capt. Bermudez, who caused the cor, as to be buried in the public streets, 100 yards distant from that town.

The Brazilian officials and commanders, each publicly against the Oriental Government, and encourage the filibusters. On the 18th, before the battle of Vera, Flores sent Goyo Suarez with a visiting card, to present his compliments to Canavarro, the latter being attended by a retinue of officers fully armed and wearing the red badge, while Flores in person accompanied the authorities of the town of Santana. Next day Canavarro crossed the frontier to return the visit, at the rebel's camp, and 4 days later sent him a present of 80 horses.

The authorities of Uruguyana refuse passports to Oriental citizens wishing to enter the Argentine Republic, and seize now-comers on suspicion that they are enrolled for the Oriental army. In this and all other frontier towns Flores has Brazilian agents who enlist men publicly for his manner, and provide horses for his free-booters.

Cattle, Santana, lances are made, and arms purchased, for Flores, under the ro selling at $ 60 each: the dozen as a excellent condition, and farmers an- living with Lt. Col. Severo Fleires, Inspecta- Tavares, we hear, has 'vendido' 16, 000 lambs on his own estancia.

We have received a very serious complaint from an English shipmaster against the Custom House authorities, for an error in the ship's bill of lading has cost the unfortunate man 2 days detention. The particulars respecting this monstrous 'haul,' we shall publish in a few days.

Now that the Government has got a plan ready for the construction of a new Custom House, it is to be hoped that we shall have not only a new edifice, but also the requisite accommodations

Our country friends will be glad to hear that the branch banks are about to be established. We trust that we have rather serious apprehensions as to their working: all will depend upon the character of the managers. If politics are allowed to enter into these rustic monetary institutions, there will be neither benefit nor advantage derived from their existence, but, on the contrary, great harm done. It is perfectly monstrous to suppose that the change of a ministry in politics should affect the value of his signature. Country banks would be of the greatest possible utility to the agricultural interests, if managed by a sufficient guarantee of capital.

We were visited yesterday by a French gentleman, who gives the most lamentable description of the Banda Oriental. He says that the state of the frontier Brazil is using its greatest endeavours to catch the filibusters, and it is thought that the Brazilian Government will send forces to assist President Berro.

To-morrow we shall send round circulars to all our subscribers for the vacant places in our establishment, &c, for our Directory for 1864. We would thank all who receive them to be most particular in the filling up of them, and send them up to our office at their earliest convenience.

Strangers who come to this country for the purpose of settling down for life will always be welcome to all information we can afford them; and we should feel obliged if they would also send us in their names, so that the Directory may be as complete as possible).

Subscribers in the Camp will also receive letters from us, after they will please fill up and hand to our agents, or remit to us direct by post. We expect that each subscriber will also send in the names and address of their neighbours [fellow-countrymen].

New Books.

Reviewed by Bez.

Since there is no Argentine Athenæum to guide the literary public in their selection of new publications, we purpose henceforward to give a succinct review of all new books published in the Plate, and thus in some measure meet this great want. The following highly interesting works have gone to press, and will be shortly ready :—

"Lopez and Paraguay," 2 vols., price $10.—This is an extremely well-written book. The author seems conscious of the grandeur of his subject, and writes like a true friend of South American revolutions, both in the past and present century. He points, with commendable ability. to the causes of each fact, and that is that every rebellious struggle in these countries has had a motive. He justifies those motives, and shows that only in countries where true republicanism is known can revolutions exist. His apostrophe to the revolutionary centaur threat is one of the sublimest compositions on this or the other side of the Cordillera. He brings us down to the midnight flight and the cruel death of Don Pedro: his chapter of rights is particular, inasmuch as it is strikingly original. Every one who has a grievance to redress, a wrong to avenge, a public office to obtain, has an inherent right to raise a revolution. The want of such a right is what makes Italy to have to doubt it will meet with immense circulation.

"Dominguez on Turkey," 1 vol, price $5.—This is a sketch of the lamentable financial state of Turkey, with remarks upon the recent loans negotiated by the Sultan Porte by the Jews. The author points, with just indignation, to the scandalous terms of such loans, and states that he would rather have had another than borrow money on such terms. The readers are treated to a chapter on Young Turkeys in South America, and their proper treatment. It is evident that the author's information is derived from the 'Tribune,' or 'Nacional,' as his views are those of the latter paper, and treats of a subject he knows nothing about.

"Canon on Depravity,' 6 vols., price $50.—The author is a regular Rive-Lane Preacher. This is a book indicated for vigilantes and city alcaldes : traces crime from its very source and follows the career of the criminal until metamorphosed into a soldier, or transmogrified into a Patagonian cacique woman. The style of the author is pure Castilian, and the work is put together until for a lady's boudoir.

"Elizalde on Diplomacy.—This is a pithy little volume, and a scarce one in the River Plate. Ministers, consuls, or agents who wish to get along smoothly would do well to subscribe for a copy. Owing to the climate and our peculiar natural productions, the diplomatic customs of this country are widely different from those of Europe. The author points out two very important things to be avoided—energy and decision of character. No foreign agent should bring these European qualities to this country.

"Reminiscences of a Sub-Secretary, by Hinojal."—A rather interesting work, and gives a great insight into the practical machinery of the River Plate. It is a sort of diary of every day life in the Minister's office. Three o'clock is the busy hour for the sub; he sits like the Minister with a pile of papers which would take a navvy a week to get man a week to peruse, yet they must all be got through before half-past four o'clock.

The book is well written and elegantly amusing.

Several other volumes are about to go to press; we shall notice them next week.

Entre-Rian Volunteers.

The Puebla of Gualeguay, of the 6th inst, has the following important intelligence.

On to-morrow and Sunday will take place the passage, across the Uruguay, of the Entre-Rios volunteers enlisted under the Oriental Government They exceed 1000 in number, being all cavalry, and are led by their most renowned officers. Beginning with them, numerous, their trained war-horses fully equipped for the campaign. They will cross the river at several distinct points, and, uniting their forces, form a valuable reinforcement for the triumph of order in this republic.

We give this news as timely notice, that they may despatch the "valiant" Carreras to stop the passage of the Federal scum, whose acquaintance he made at Martin Garcia on Oct. 14th, 1859.

Already arrived! We learn with satisfaction that the Entre-Rios volunteers commenced the passage of the Uruguay, last night, bringing their excellent troops of horses which the Government will purchase, leaving them sufficient for their own service and carrying on the campaign. About 300 troopers are already on this side, and others are crossing every moment. We are informed that "Urquiza's band", "Nacional", "Nation", and other sanguinary organs that the Oriental has sent to Hell, and we are about to have another 23rd October, without another 11th of November.

Saldaña and his 30 vagabonds who captured Fray Bentos have fled to the woods. A band of 400 rebels is hovering about Mercedes, but they have not said to be among them. Medina is on their track with 300 men. Lucas Moreno is encamped with 1500 near Rosario Col. Olid, of this division, is sick.

The Argentine steamers, Guardia Nacional and 25 de Mayo, are anchored at Fray Bentos: the latter is fitting up the Salto. The Pampero is at Fray Bentos. The brig San Juan Bautista continues its works at the Cornalito rocks.

THE ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Owing to the great want felt in the provinces for good roads and new bridges, the National Government has applied to Congress for the power of emitting one million of $ silver in what is called roads and bridges stock The following is the project.

Art 1. The President is authorised to emit one million of dollars in shares of 500 each, which be denominated Roads and Bridges Stock.

2. These shares shall be of 20, 50, 100, 500 and 1000 pats, with an interest of 6 cent payable half yearly, and are with 3 per cent amortisation.

3. These shares shall be only issued at par, and shall be paid out only when new enterprises shall require it,

4. From the general revenue a sufficient sum shall be set apart for the payment of interest and amortizement, and the amortization fund may be increased by funds received in tolls, &c.

5. These shares shall be entered in a book for that purpose kept by the Finance Minister, and all sums realised from the sale of them shall likewise be deposited apart, and only applied for he purposes specified.

7. The President can enter into contracts for the construction of roads and bridges, and pay for sums in these shares, but at no less valuation than their par value.

8. Each year the Government shall form Congress of the amount of shares emitted, and the works for which they were given.

9. In the interim no specific rents shall be applied for the payment of interest, &c; Government is authorised to apply for one per cent of their labours ted by Congress for roads and bridges.

G. RAWSON.

We consider the above project a sound and discreet political measure, in a country where capital is scarce. Though it is absurd to suppose that road cost can ever pay their labourers with these shares, yet iron bridges and such like can be bought of the manufacturers at home with them. In this United States the majority of the plank roads used by the public are private property, and the tolls collected are sufficient to keep the road in good repair, and leave a dividend of 12 and often 20 per cent to the stockholders.

Professor Burmeister.

Dear Sir,

I have been truly rejoiced to receive letters from you, assuring us of your health, and that the vigour of your intellect is still reserved for the advancement of our common science.

I am much obliged and greatly impressed, by the evidence you obligingly forwarded to me of the "dermal rigidity of mylodon." It is still, then, possible, that Megatherium may have had, in some measure, an ossified skeleton!

I send a copy, through the kindness of Mr. Wheelwright, of my "Memoir on Megatherium." I have many materials for a fresh one, in the shape of drawings, &c, but as yet have not had time to reduct them. I hope you have put on record, through your German correspondent, your observations on the vertebral column, communicated to me in your first letter: I wish to quote them. Still more do I desiderate the specimen of an animal Glyptodon, for our British Museum, to stand by the side of the Megatherium. You know how my original Glyptodon is in the Museum of the College of Surgeons. I shall always rejoice to hear from you.

Believe me, ever truly yours,

RICHARD OWEN.

Tea-Table

To the Editor of the 'Standard,

Mr. Editor,

The old lady of the tea-table, who says good butter is scarce, and at the cheap figure of 35 dols per lb., must have forgotten to call at Barry and Walker's, where the best Orkney Butter, celebrated butter, fresh twice a week, at the moderate figure of 26 dols.

If the old lady can be assured, that I can always find good tea at the same establishment, and I flatter myself that I know what good tea is. If she will call on me, I will be glad to meet happy to make her a dish of Barry and Walker's best, which, I guess, she will not find inferior.

A LADY TEA-DRINKER.

Exciting Scene.

Yesterday afternoon the front of the Policia was crowded, and thanks to a loquacious Englishman we learned what the row was about. One of the Calle Rivadavia brass cops remarked an individual dressed as a gaucho riding about with all sorts of silver ornaments on his horse. The animal was in very poor condition, and the rider rather unsteady. The cop vigilante thought all was not right, and walked up and fellow with his horse and equipments off to the Policia. To see a horse staggering under the weight of silver ornaments in a country where specie is confessedly scarce was rather a novel sight; had the man been dressed out with paper dollars the surprise would not have been so great.

The chief was completely taken by surprise, and a Rotschild dropped down amongst us, he could not have created greater sensation. 'Sit down, Sir,' said the chief, taking off his hat, 'what can I do to serve you?' 'What have you to say for yourself I'm appearing with such gaudiness apparel on your horse?' The stranger answered, that although not proud, he was in his anxiety always to appear well-dressed.' He said his fine was never looked up.

The Fenian Affair.

At the commencement of the present year the effective force of the army was as follows:

Infantry	338,562
Algeria	56,285
Italy	16,960
China	915
Cochin China	3,000
Mexico	27,915
Total	443,836

LOCAL EVENTS.

PRO RESO BALL.—The grand affair will come off to night, to mark the opening in anniversary of the raising the siege of 1853. There will be, as usual "carne con cuero" in the Plaza de Setiembre.

SANATORY—The amount of sickness at present in Buenos Ayres is quite alarming. All the principal doctors have more patients than they can possibly attend to. Scarlatina is very prevalent amongst children, but it is not of such a virulent nature here as in Europe.

THE WESTERN RAILWAY—We perceive the contractor is about augmenting the number of "navvies." There are at present some 200 basques at work, and some 200 more are about to be put on. The terms or wages are very tempting: 850 dollars per month, a good dinner, half a quart of coña, and a quart of wine to each poon daily. If such terms were offered in Europe, the contractor would not know what to do with all the applicants.

BLACK RAIN.—It may not have been generally remarked, yet it is an undoubted fact that the rain which fell on Sunday and Sunday night was more like ink than rain. We should like to have the opinion of some of our water scheming friends upon this strange phenomenon.

AGROUNI.—The Pavon, which came down the river from San Fernando on Tuesday, brought us news of a vessel aground in front of San Isidro. It is supposed that she is the Amalia.

NEW CUSTOM HOUSE.—Congress has voted half a million for the purpose of building a new Custom house. The site is not yet known, but it is rumoured that the greater part of the building will be of iron manufactured in England.

SHEEP FARMERS.—Our camp friends will please bear in mind that Mr. Holbach's estancia will be sold by auction on the 28th inst. The land is about two square leagues, and will be subdivided into six lots, each of which will have a house and corrales. Sheep farmers must not miss the chance.

MAIZ—The quantity of maiz at present lying rotting at the chacras is perfectly incredible; the lowest freight we hear is $50 per fanega from Chivilcoy to town, and as the price in the plaza is only $60 per fanega, the farmer after brokerage, &c, realizes about five paper dollars per fanega.

GOOD SIGN—We are pleased to see that the Government is about selling off some of its squadron. The Constitution will be sold by auction in a few days, and we hear that it is more than probable the Gaaraia Nacional will soon follow. It is beginning to be rather generally believed that we want less of war steamers, soldiers, and admirals, and more of ploughs and spades.

THE NOTARIES—These worthy dignitaries are all in the greatest commotion, owing to some proposed reforms introduced into the Legislature. A petition is going round the office praying of the house to throw out the bill, but a very general feeling exists that the escribanos' offices are in a frightful state, and need stringent reform.

THE ORDERLIES—Owing to the recent reductions made by Congress in the salaries of the President's orderlies, the greatest trouble and affliction has been caused; in fact the whole household of his Excellency has been thrown into the most inextricable confusion by the miserable economy of the deputies; the orderlies, lackeys, postillions, &c., are driven to the last extremities, and we believe are about to give notice to leave.

THE CARTMEN.—The few rules respecting carts are of such a character that we are told no man can pursue the business any longer without incurring certain loss. It is rumoured that a general meeting will be held for the purpose of taking measures that a cert tonal shall be wilnn one cart only, and not what would fill a luggage van.

THE NORTHERN RAILWAY.—We learn that in a day or two all the damage caused by the late floods on the railway and tramway will be repaired, and the coaches and trains run as usual.

THE FERRO-CARRIL.—The Rosario collegiate is one of the best edited, plain-spoken, and spirited Spanish newspapers published in the Argentine Republics the editor, Mr. Perkins, as a matter of course, is a British subject, and a man of decided ability. The "Ferro Carril" is the legitimate exponent and champion of provincial interests. It has recently published a very valuable "resumen" of the trade and commerce of Rosario with the provinces, and calls attention to two very important facts—namely, that numerous vessels are departing from Rosario, direct for Montevideo; and the great bulk of the produce of the provinces, instead of being sent to Rosario is finding its way to Cuilly, for which he very justly blames the inexplicable conduct of our own national Finance Ministers.

THE POST-OFFICE—We call attention to a communication published a few days ago. The writer is an Englishman, of good experience in this country, and suggests a very necessary reform in the addressing of letters—namely, to put on the corner of the envelope the number of the house of the party to whom the letter is addressed.

LAMELA & NADAL.—These renowned Argentine officers are getting up a volunteer corps at Montevideo, Banda Oriental, in which we understand a number of their countrymen are already enrolled, to aid Government in putting down the infamous rebellion.

TERTULIA—On Monday evening was given the last of a series of evening parties, for the season, at the English house. Those who were present request us to express gratification at the pleasure and hospitality so affordedly we learn the prettiest girl in the room was Miss. H.....

HORSE-STEALING. — We have credible accounts from an Englishman near Rio Negro, that the rebels have driven off a large troop of horses from the neighbouring estancias. This serves to say that Flores has either lost all control over his followers, or that he is short of gold, since formerly he always paid for everything.

RAM AUCTION.—On Friday next Mr. Billinghurst's great ram auction comes off. Competent judges assure us that these animals are some of the finest ever imported into the country. Parties wishing to inspect them can do so, by applying at No 70. Potosi.

THE BRITISH LIBRARY.—We have no reason to believe that at the next meeting it will be proposed to take camp subscribers at $100 per annum, and one month will be allowed for the raising of such. If this measure is carried out, the Library Committee may count upon a hundred new subscribers this year.

DIED. On the 8th inst. Mr. Fee Bartels, aged 59 years. Deceased was a native of Drumfincr, Scotland, and had resided many years in this city. R. I. P.

ON 'CHANGE.

September 9.

Ounces opened at 438, and continued filling all day, closing market at 435 1/2. Cash sales, 4792. The sales on time were exceedingly heavy, nearly six thousand ounces were sold for Saturday, and there was an evident disposition to bear the market.

All sorts of rumours were flying about on 'Change to-day. It was said, had arrived, bringing news up to Monday evening. Montevideo, it was said, was being barricaded, and Mitre had applied for more guns and men. We attach, however, little importance to these rumours, as it is difficult to suppose that our marine friend, who enjoys the greater part of his time on board the light ship, could see what they were doing in the sister capital.

There is, however, a very uneasy feeling in the market, and many users now that the Flores' invasion has been got up less for the upsetting of Berro, than the annihilation of Urquiza; how this may be we cannot say, but of one thing there can be little doubt, if Flores succeeds in taking Montevideo, Urquiza will be obliged to fly.

Letters Bills of Exchange were done on England to-day at 66s 3d and 66s 6d

On the 1st proximo the Maua Bank opens a saving deposit, allowing six per cent on all sums over 25 dollars. We regard this as a move in the right direction, and calculated to increase the business of this popular and wealthy institution.
